

Juan Camilo Lozano Interview (Winning Spirit Winner)

1. Start of the Hack
  - a. The awards were a very good first motivation, some money to change my smartphone and a possible internship in Purdue to improve my abilities.
2. Training period
  - a.
    - i. The videos made by Alejandro Vecchio were very helpful.
    - ii. The official pages of each technology, it was the base of every training, a big manual of all options offered.
    - iii. No.
3. First Submission
  - a. Reading the text in task label several times, every time I felt lost I went to task label.
  - b.
    - i. Mostly at my home PC because I don't have a laptop and in night hours after classes.
    - ii. Two, one the deadline day and one the day before.
    - iii. All the time from the official pages and others that are more casual like Stack Overflow.
  - c. No.
  - d. Video to put the map, and the grid system of Bootstrap.
  - e. In the first phase I didn't use the forum.
  - f. Happily, I expected to do it worst whit all the new stuff to handle.
4. Following submissions
  - i. Spend more time programming and investigating.
  - ii. The third one.
  - iii. First the activities that I was sure I could do.
  - iv. For the third phase when I had to spend a lot of time searching databases and its responses.
5. Reflection
  - a. Make my app prettier, start earlier with the handle of Zillow.
  - b. The time and whole competition is bigger compared to other contests.
6. Future activities
  - a. I haven't thought too much about that but I would like to make it prettier.
  - b. I wanted to use the system of distance of google maps API, make an equation for the safety value of a determined area and apply it by zip codes for a filter system.
7. Thank you so much for making this contest possible, it's a big opportunity for many people.